In these pages is a reflection of life

As once it was: clear, bright, alive —

With faces and memories blurred

Only by ripples on the sea of time.

ROCKETEER Northwest Mississippi Junior College
Volume 32 Senatobia, Mississippi 38668

Life was brightness and brashness,

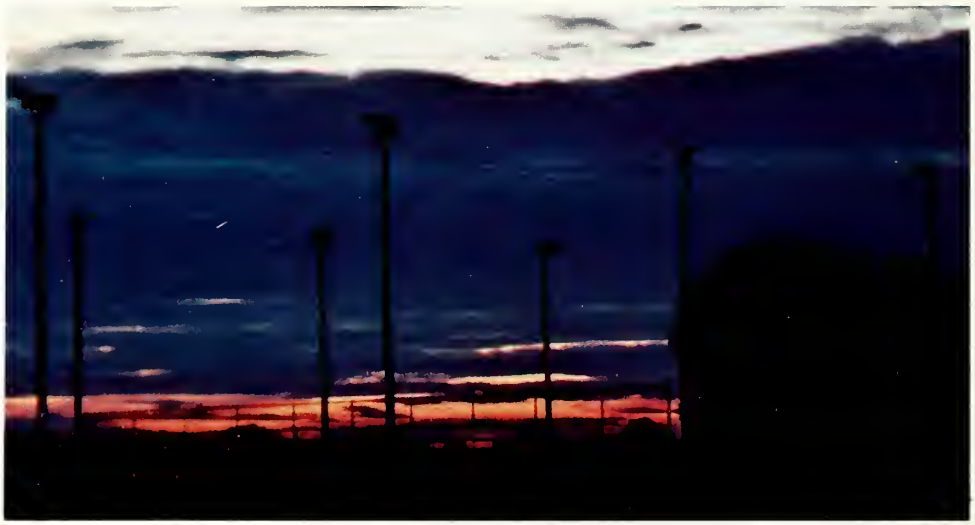
Concern and contemplation.

And being alone together

In searching for ourselves.



Life was limbs sprawling upward

And outward in tangles of living growth,

In an obsession with the present.

Obscuring both sunrise and sunset,

The new and the old,

The beginning and the end.

Yet the light dispelled the darkness.

Life was spirits and bodies together

In a mass of movement and anticipation

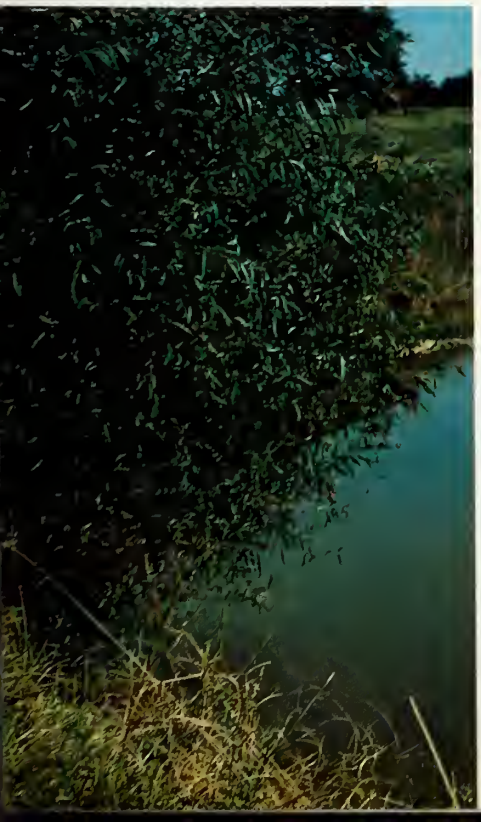
Of goals achieved.

The simple joy of doing

Simple things together . . .

A kiss, a touch,

A romp through the grass.



Life was beautiful and mysterious —

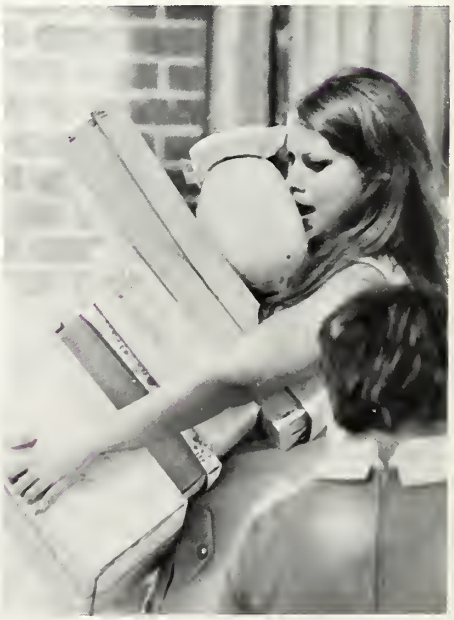
What more can be said?

Life was a load of high school souvenirs

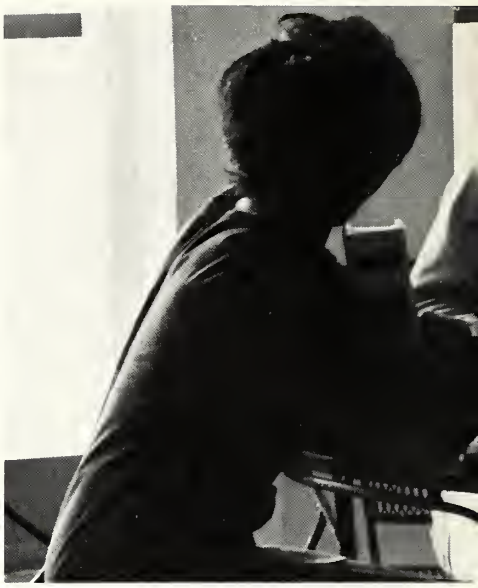
Soon to become relics of a past life

Put aside in the dream-like search

For the memories of tomorrow.



NATOBIA, MISS

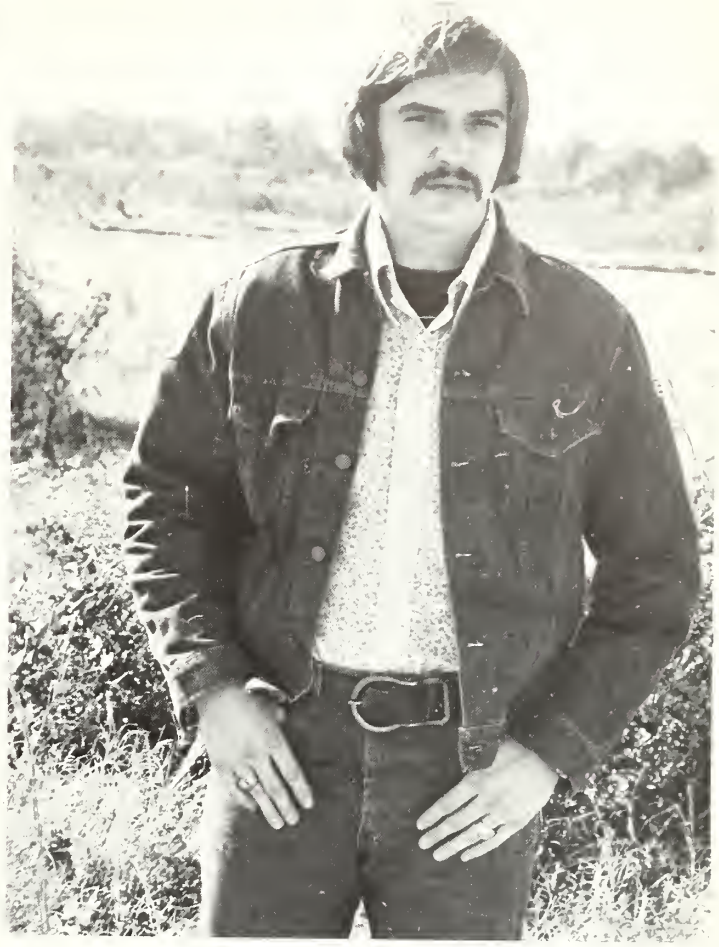


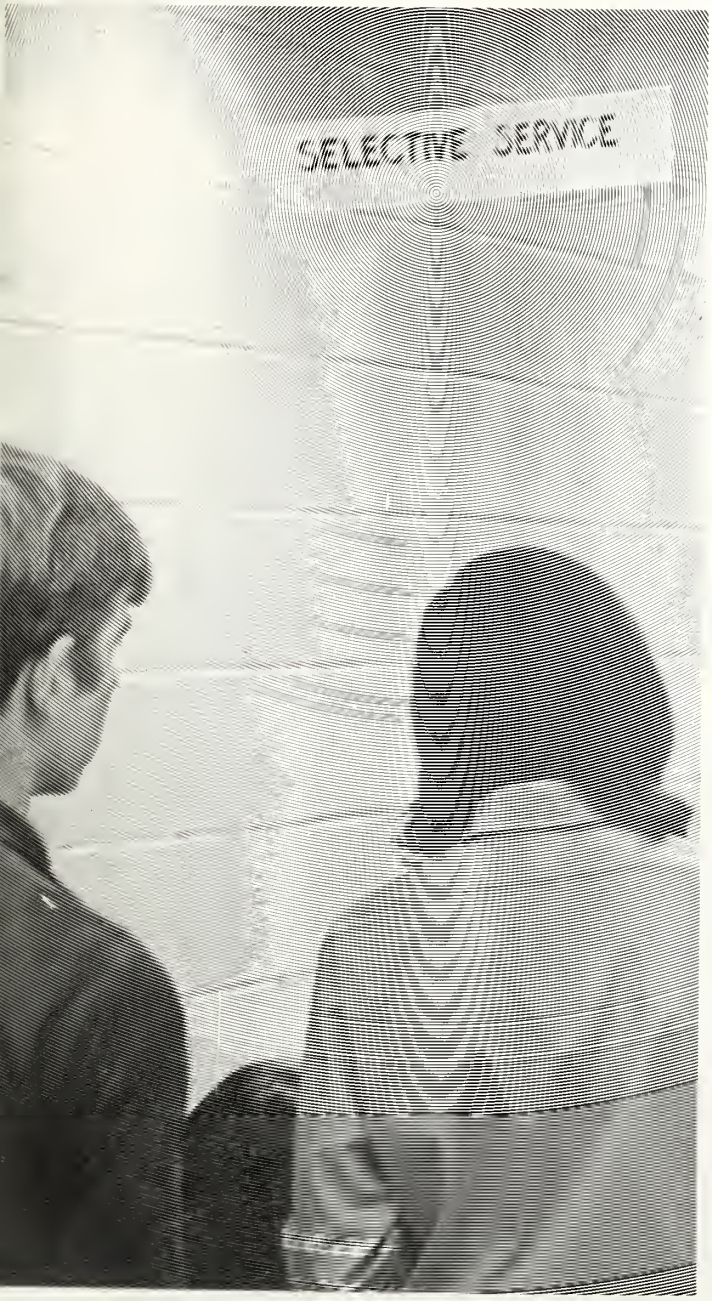
Life was a contrast of the quietness

Of study, careful steps, and a friendly touch

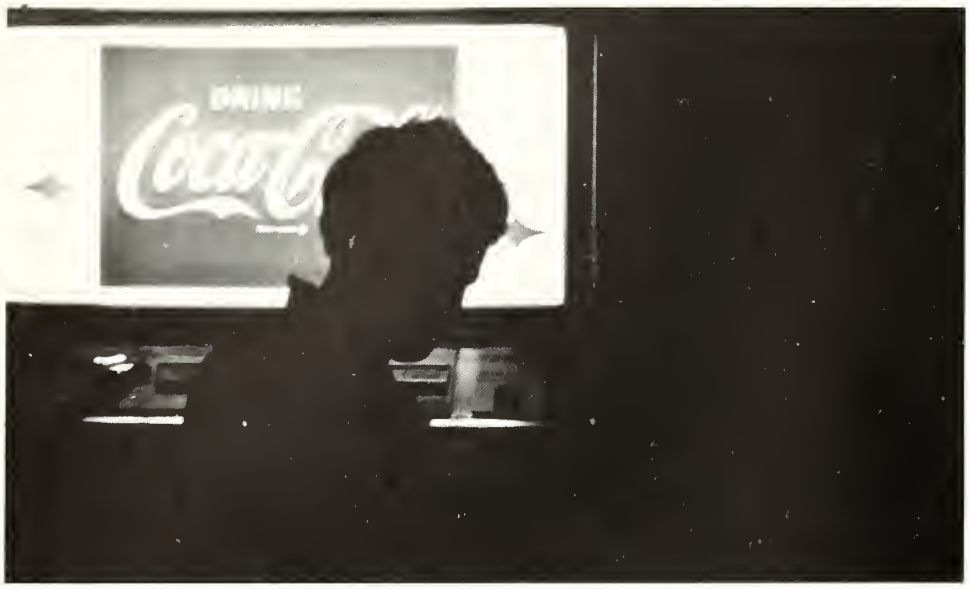
And the racket of drummers

And megaphone mouths.





Life was a time of new thoughts and new ideas.
Of casting aside traditions of the past
In search for a better tomorrow.



DRINK
Coca-Co

Life for some was a keen awareness
Of unnoticed places,
Of the quiet joy of simplicity
And a fleeting glimpse of reality.

THIS IS YOUR PARK
PLEASE HELP
KEEP IT CLEAN
PUT TRASH IN CAN

Life was the joy of doing the simple things . . .
For that's what life is all about.

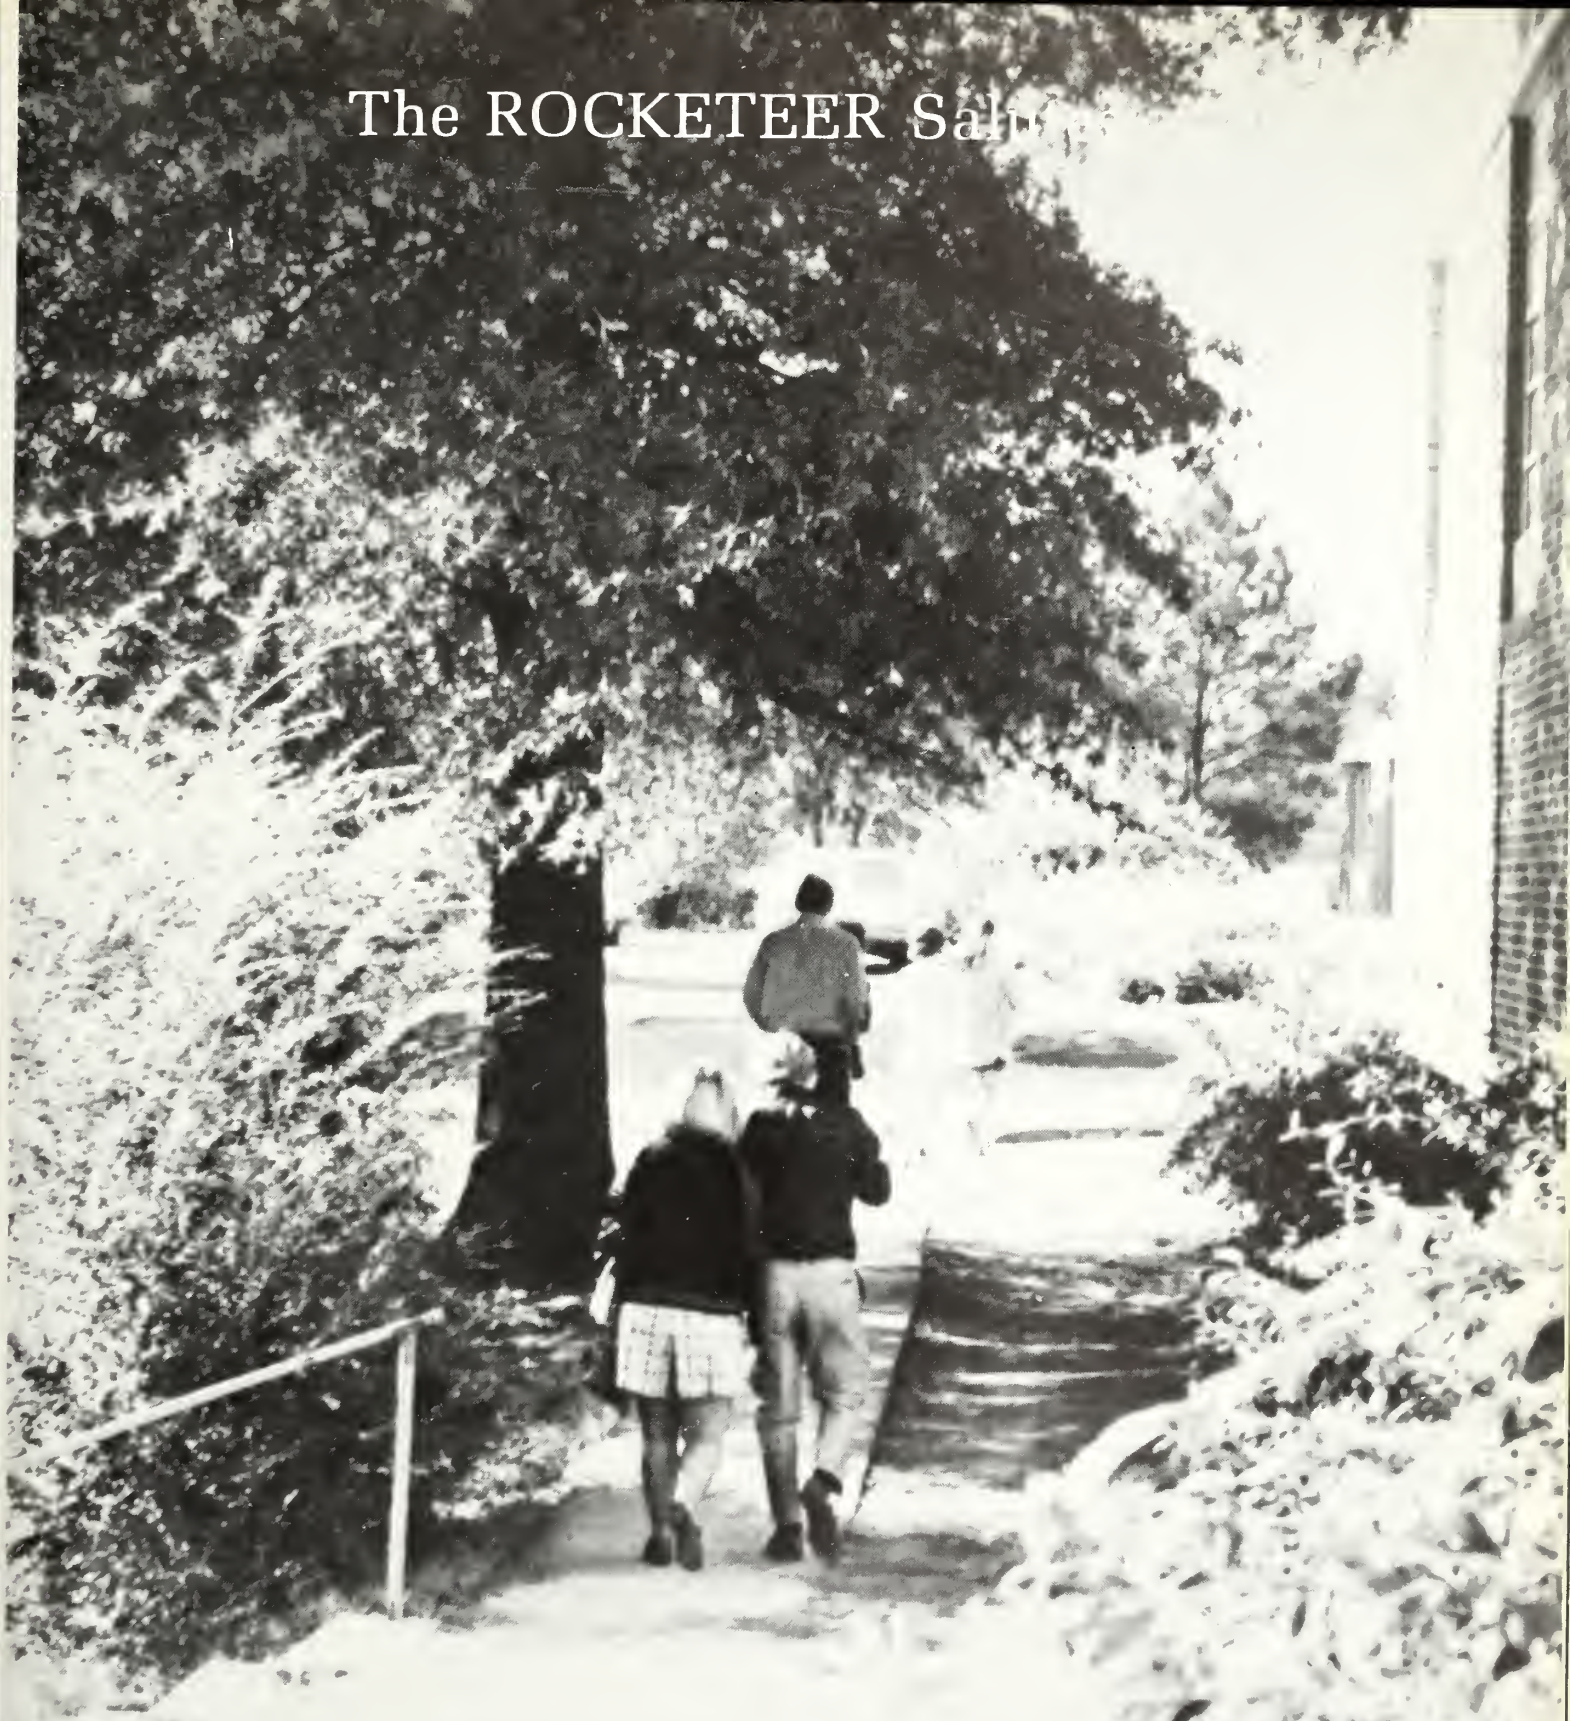
The ROCKETEER Salu



The Rocketeer staff salutes those members of our school who are helping to make our community a better place to be. They may not be well known, or they may not be known at all. But the manner in which they perform their work evidences their commitment to their special activities as well as to other people. We need more people like them for they're the real winners in life.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

College Personnel relate to today's youth

Many aspects are to be considered when attempting to write about the Board of Trustees, administration, and faculty. Their combined efforts to bring to the student the best possible education for the least amount of money must not be overlooked. Along with that education, the growth of the campus and its facilities must be mentioned. But rather than dwell upon the details of growth, it would perhaps be better to direct our attention to the personnel of the college.

First to be considered is the Board of Trustees, average age approximately fifty-five. How can a group of people in this age group relate to the college scene? Some of our generation would think it impossible, but by genuine concern for our education and development they become immediately relevant to today's youth and culture. It is the Board who is responsible for our growth through their concern as a single body and as devoted individuals.

Next our administration, led by the illustrious president of the college R. D. McLendon. Our President, well-known "throughout the land and country" for his generosity and congeniality manages to always find time for the students. He is consistently prepared to meet all situations and emergencies, remaining ever open to new ideas and philosophies.

The several deans on campus and the other administrators pave the way for open communication. From their assigned positions they administer all regulations required for running this democratic institution. Good judgment and true justice are their outstanding characteristics.

With a devoted Board of Trustees and a well-disciplined administration comes a faculty which as a whole must outshine the other two. When a whole group of people are willing to put in so many hours with few material returns they must be classified as humanitarians. The faculty has done a great job, the facilities are improving every year, enrollment is increasing and our administration is learning. What more could we ask?

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Government Association

The purpose of a student government is to serve the students and to provide them with a direct means of communicating their ideas to the administrators of the college. The 1970-1971 Student Government Association brought several much-needed changes forth for the administration's approval; though they failed to find success in each case, the students' voices were heard.

To be liberal in a conservative atmosphere nearly always brings criticism. Criticism of SGA was strong at times by students, faculty and administration, but with a definite resolve, the council members pursued what they considered the best course for both the students and the college.

HOMECOMING was the highlight. After coming off of four close losses we put it all together. It was tough on Itawamba. 47-6 tough. Everything went right; it was great living up to our potential.

Cheerleaders – Football
Football – Cheerleaders

Then there were the cheerleaders, those stand-outs of school spirit. Even in the most grim moments they could be seen trying to arouse a little spirit from a crowd long devoid of any enthusiasm. These girls are loved by the players and coaches, but sadly ignored for the most part by the remainder of our peers. If medals for bravery, endurance, patience, and strong lungs were given, these seven young ladies, along with their four alternates, would surely take them all.

Sophomore cheerleaders are Terry Thornton (captain), Donna Sue Cobb, Brenda Henson, and Pat Johnson. The freshman cheerleaders are JoAnn Hobbs, Mimi Vickery, and Carol Lammey. At any school but Northwest, these alternates would be head cheerleaders. They are Debbie Montgomery, Gina Robbins, Lou Ann Reed, and Debra Persons.

It was a frustrating year for the Ranger football team, under the direction of new head coach and athletic director Ken Bramlett. One of the best recruiting campaigns in recent years brought the squad over 30 talented freshmen to go with the dozen returning sophomores for 1969's team that finished 2-7-1 overall, but the year was filled with disappointments.

The Rangers dropped three of their first four ballgames by a total of five points, and finished 2-8 overall, in spite of being in every ballgame except two until the final gun.

At Summit in the season opener, the Rangers came back from a 0-0 deadlock at halftime and took a 7-0 lead in the third quarter. But the Bears finally connected on a pair of scoring passes to go ahead 14-7 with just minutes to go. The Rangers scored again with less than two minutes to play on quarterback Phil Oakley's second touchdown pass of the contest, but a two point conversion attempt went awry and Southwest held on for its decision.

Disappointment was the word again against Holmes, which scored three times within six minutes during the second period and added another tally in the final period to edge the Rangers 28-25. It was the second straight time for extra points to make the difference, with Northwest getting three touchdowns in the second half after trailing 21-7 at the midpoint.

Defending conference champ Pearl River, playing at Columbia, piled up a 21-0 first half lead and added another touchdown in the third period for a victory that came harder than the score indicated. The Rangers scored their only touchdown early in the final period. It was the first starting assignment for freshman quarterback Daryl Walker, who took over during the Holmes game for Oakley, forced out of action with a leg injury.

There were those among the Ranger fans who thought the bad luck would soon change, but they were wrong. Unbeaten East Central, eventual winner of the north division title, came from behind in the fourth quarter for a 14-13 victory, the second for the Rangers to lose by that score and the third by a margin of extra points.

The following week, though, the tide finally turned. Winless Itawamba, struggling after several of its players quit the squad a week earlier, caught the full force of the aroused Ranger squad, which piled on touchdown after touchdown for a 47-6 victory. Everyone on the squad saw action as Northwest tried to hold the score down against the hapless Indians. The score was 33-0 at halftime.

But disappointment returned the next week, with stubborn Mississippi Delta capturing a 20-6 decision. The score was deadlocked 6-6 at one point, but the Trojans had a 13-6 margin at halftime and added another touchdown and extra point with nine seconds remaining in the game for the final difference.

On the road again, Coach Bramlett and his staff could only watch helplessly from the sidelines as Jones' explosive Bobcats mauled the Rangers 47-7. The shipping was the worst ever inflicted upon a team coached by Bramlett, and apparently it helped get the Rangers up for their final home contest against Northeast.

The Tigers came into Senatobia with a 4-2 record and were among the league's leaders. The Ranger assault was led by Walker who came into his own at quarterback, scoring touchdowns on runs of one, eleven, and forty-eight yards and throwing five yards to Tym Nelson for one and 35 yards to Ted Rogers for another. Nelson also got another score on a 37-yard sweep. He paced the ground gainers for the night with 174 yards, while Walker finished with 245 yards in total offense.

After that performance, many fans were hopeful that the Rangers might still be able to pull out a couple of wins on the final two outings, but Copiah-Lincoln spoiled things right off with a 28-14 victory on the road after the Rangers had a week off following the Northeast romp. The game was knotted at 14-14 with about ten minutes to go, but the Wolves pulled out a pair of touchdowns in the final moments to hold their third-place ranking in the overall standings.

East Mississippi spoiled the season finale 7-0, scoring just a minute and a half into the game and holding on for the duration. Northwest threatened seriously at one point, but an offensive pass interference call against the Rangers at the East Mississippi eight-yard line thwarted the thrust.

In spite of the poor record, the squad showed definite signs of improvement over previous years. Only once were they beaten beyond hope, and never did they give up. With a large group of returning lettermen due to report back in the fall of 1971, the future looks bright indeed. Another recruiting season like 1970 could even make the Rangers a darkhorse contender for the league title. One thing for sure, a lot of folks are looking forward to next year.

Basketball: Determination and a winner

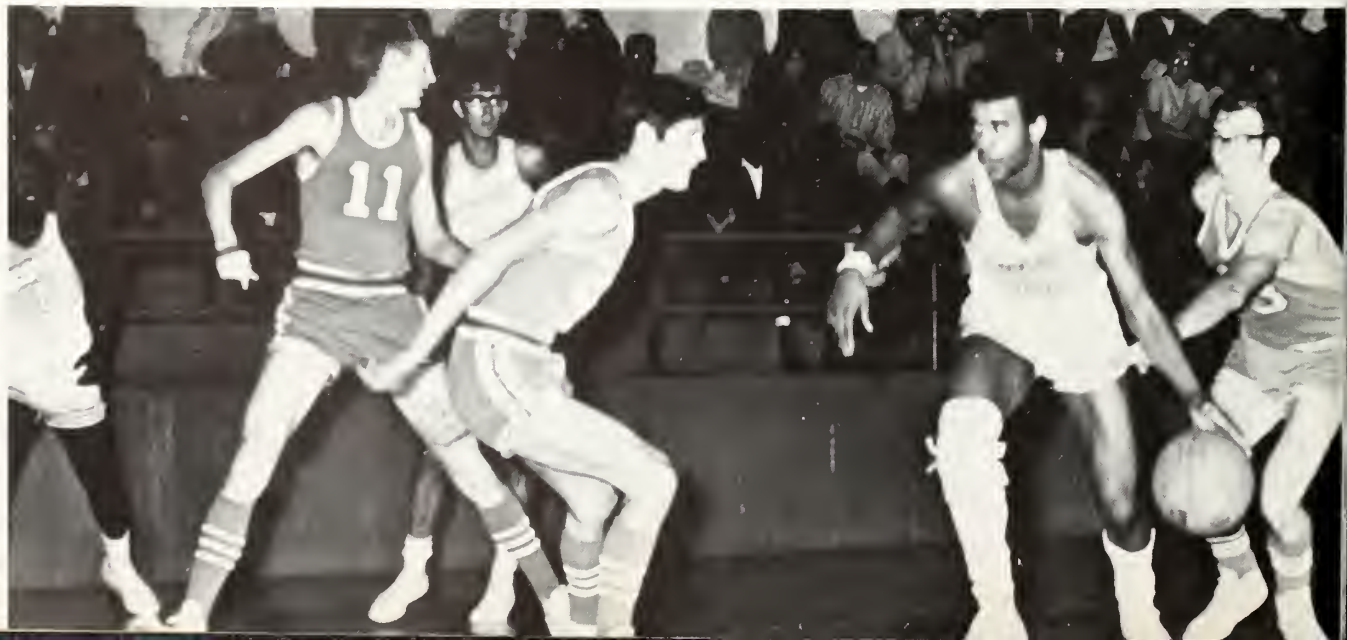
Right: Freshman guard Wilbert Beard dribbles behind his back to break the press. Beard was the second leading scorer with a season average of more than 23 points per game. Below: Beard drives around his man and heads for the goal.



Top: Tommy Vaughn is fouled as he attempts to shoot over the CBC center. Left: Martin stretches for the jump against Phillips. Above: Willie Brown lays in another one. Brown at 6'1" had to play against men up to a foot taller than himself, but he still managed to lead the Rangers in scoring.

Right: Sophomore playmaker Skeet Hurdle stretches to block a shot against East Central. Hurdle broke his ankle and was later lost to the team for six weeks. Below: Coach Koon leads the Rangers to the dressing room at half-time.

Finishing in second place in Northwest Division Junior College Conference play with an 8-4 conference record and 13-9 overall and with two All-State players, Coach Henry B. Koon and his Rangers finished another victorious season, the coach's sixth winning season in six years at Northwest.

In the words of Coach Koon, "As far as I am concerned, the season was a tremendous success, by far the best I have ever had from the standpoint of achievement. I have never seen a small group of boys do so well."

Coach Koon returned only one starter from last year's team, Roger Wright. Skeet Hardle and Tommy Vaughn had seen only limited action. To build a winning team with only three returning players was a definite challenge. With good recruiting, several valuable freshmen were added to the team. The only trouble Northwest had was the fact that the tallest man in a Ranger uniform was only 6'2". The season looked dark at first with Coach Koon expecting a meager six wins at the most. The Rangers fought hard at all times though and to everyone's surprise pulled in 13 big ones.

A sound offense and disciplined defense proved to be the major assets of the ball club. At critical times it seemed that Coach Koon limited the offense to one or two key players, though the offense had many variations. Nevertheless, his techniques developed a winner out of a team that seemed destined for mediocrity.

The season started with three quick victories, Southern Baptist (97-70), Holmes (69-68) and Phillips County (88-83). On a return visit with Southern Baptist the Rangers absorbed their first loss 81-64. Two more victories followed, but an 86-76 loss to Mississippi Delta started the team on a five-game losing skid which left the record at 5 wins and 6 losses.

The Rangers immediately picked up an 81-62 victory over Christian Brothers College freshmen, only to be put down for the second time by the baby Rebels. Following the loss to Ole Miss, the Rangers matched their five-game losing streak with five straight wins. The regular season ended with a 81-72 loss to Itawamba and a 67-46 victory over Holmes.

In the North-Half Tournament, hosted by Northwest, the Rangers did not fare as well as most fans hoped. With a heavy home-court advantage, the Rangers methodically picked East Mississippi to pieces, winding up with an 80-72 victory. In the second round it was Delta's turn to do the picking. Going in at the half with a six-point lead, the Rangers looked as if the game was theirs. Obviously they felt like the game was over, and though the lead was as great as 14 points a few minutes after the start of the second half, Delta hung on for a 72-67 victory. That game ended the season and the Rangers' hopes for a state championship.

Though the season ended on a disappointing note, few could find fault with a team that played so well against much taller and physically stronger teams. Coach Koon had a great deal of respect for this year's basketball team and praised them highly. He felt that most of the credit for any success should go to the boys and their determination. Success came to the 1970-1971 Rangers because of that determination and pride.

Something must be said about the individuals themselves who made up the team. Willie Brown was the Rangers' leading scorer and the state's leader with a 26.1 point average. He also contributed 8.7 rebounds per game which, totaled with his point average, netted him an All-State selection. Wilbert Beard followed Brown closely in the scoring department with a 23.4 point average. Beard joined Brown on the All-State team.

Roger Wright contributed the steady play that is so necessary to any team's balance. He played excellent defense and seemed to always drop in that needed free throw or get two points when the game was close. Wright earned an honorable mention on the All-State team. Skeet Hurdle, the Ranger playmaker for the first part of the season, hurt his ankle and was lost for six weeks. This definitely hurt the Rangers later in the season, but two football players joined the basketball team and took up much of the slack left by Hurdle's absence.

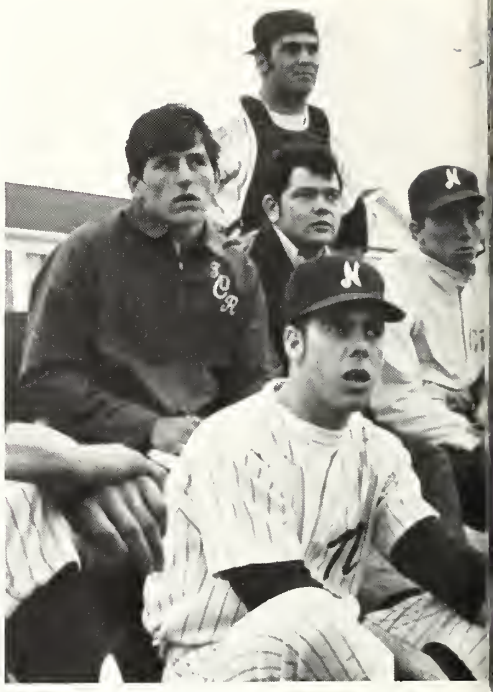
Billy Young and Ted Rodgers furnished the depth that carried the team on to its successful season. Young became one of the leading scorers as he took over the reins as playmaker. Rodgers alternated between forward and guard, performing equally well at both. Mike Foster, another outstanding freshman, played guard for the Rangers when Hurdle was hurt.

Centers Tommy Vaughn and Dwayne Martin switched out at center for most of the season. Neither was ever as tall as his opponents, but both proved that they could play well against the odds and larger men.

The final three men gave the team hustle, desire, and someone to practice against. Without Dick Sanders, Tommy Swindoll, and Earl Thompson to round out the team, there probably wouldn't have been a team.

So this season and this year are over. In basketball, as in every other sport, all anyone can do is wait for next year. There are some excellent freshmen and an eager coach just waiting.

Baseball: Hit and Run



Baseball became a major sport on the Northwest campus last spring for the first time in years. At every home game the stands were full of cheering students that were seldom disappointed by the baseball Rangers.

The season started with three straight shutout victories over Holmes, Itawamba, and Delta. Strong pitching performances were turned in by Skeet Hurdle, Micky Hutchins and Larry Farmer. Together they compiled an 8-5 record, which sadly included an 8-3 loss to East Mississippi in the North Division play-offs.

The top hitters were Danny Tackett, who batted around .350 for the year, Steve Hargett (.330), Micky Hutchins (.315) and Pat Dorr (.300). Good power and clutch hitting were characteristics of Northwest's team, a team that averaged 8 runs a game and was shut out only once.

This year's team has a solid look with returning lettermen at 5 positions. Hurdle is the only returning pitcher, but prospects are bright if there are some rookies who can come around and take up the slack.

3	East Miss.	8

Above: Billy Houston, on the inside lane, is running third in the 220-yard low hurdles. Left center: Arnold Wallace breaks the tape for a victory in the 880 relay. Left: Larry Crigler practicing for his specialty, the shot put. Right center: Johnny Mills receives a perfect hand-off from Norris Faust to begin the third leg of the mile relay. Far right: Track life before the meet.

The track team fared pretty well last spring with consistent victories in most of the running events. The relay teams proved to be the strongest entries. Arnold Wallace, Johnny Mills, Norris Faust and Billy Houston burned the cinders up in the 440 and 880-yard relays. No state records were broken, but for Northwest the sprinters made their mark.

In the field events the story took a sad turn for the worse. Weak at most positions and not having an entry in some events the Rangers were forced to use men with little or no experience. As a result the Rangers usually came out on the bottom in dual or triangular meets.

With good speed returning all eyes will be watching for some improvements in field events which will result in an overall improvement of the whole program.

Tennis was a sorry racket

The tennis season at Northwest was a poor one. The players' experience was lacking as well as support from the student body.

Lawrence Little and Jerry McKay swapped out playing men's singles. Little scored Northwest's only victory of the season in men's singles competition.

Larry Crigler and David Wimberly played Doubles; a little experience was their main reward. Crigler will be the sole returning letterman.

We hope this year to have a better season, but the prospects are dim for Coach Barnett's net men. The only hope for a successful tennis season will be a good freshman turnout.

Intramurals: Football

The commuters won it all this year defeating the powerhouse teams from Gainey, Quitman and Panola. Their season was marred by a single loss to Quitman in the first round of the championship series. They came back in the final game to win by thirty points, completing the destruction of Quitman.

Volleyball – Gainey demolishes all opponents

Standing: Rodney McElroy, John Russell, Alfred Burton, Jack Strong, Terry Wortham. Kneeling: Jerry Nickels, Tommy Sanders, Pat Didlake, Mike Hatcher, Arnold Wallace.

Girls Volleyball: Coeds keen on exercise and competition

Girls' Championship Team

Standing: Mary Davis, Brenda Henson, Myra Baronowski, Kay Parker. Kneeling: Gail Walker, Beth Shackelford, Linda Owens, Ann Wells, Kathy Hill.

For a real kick try Donkey Basketball

Donkey basketball came to Northwest for the second year in a row. Once again it proved to be a real crowd drawer. There must be something in seeing your fellow-students getting kicked and stepped upon.

The score was high once again, 4-2. But the fun doesn't come from shooting the ball, it comes from trying to ride the cantankerous little burros. Getting popped with a cattle prod would make about anyone cantankerous.

Cheerleaders are everywhere, in everything

Above left: One of many jobs is decorating the gym. Here decorations are being made for the North-Half Tourney. Top center: For a moment it seems as though the whole season will be for nothing if we miss the free throw. Right: Mr. Paul Carpenter gets some attention from our vivacious cheerleaders.

Top: Sophomore Class officers are (left to right) Arnold Wallace, president; Jack Strong (seated below), first vice president; Debbie Red, secretary-treasurer; and Bob White, second vice president. Bottom: A committee of the Class plots the location of a sign to be purchased for the college as a class project. Opposite page, top: Classmen and sponsors figure on new graduation robes. Far right: President Arnold Wallace.

In Memory of Spencer Lofton

It matters not how long we live, but how; then to live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.

It is finished. The last pages have been typed and a sense of relief from responsibility nearly overcomes us. At times it has been hilarious, at times nerveracking. But the yearbook is out, success or failure. Its significance can be measured only by the hard work put into it.

We would like to recognize Mrs. Meacham, our sponsor; Margaret Gray, her secretary; Bobby Baxter; Catherine Pope; La Tracia Scott; Debbie Red; and the photography of Roger Carroum, Mike Pittman, Mr. Oakley and his Ranger Rocket photographers. Without their constant help, this book would not have been completed.

We hope that this book will contain memories of a year filled with hope and expectation, success, and at times hardship and failure. We also sincerely hope that every student will be able to identify with it in some way.

The year has passed, many events have come and gone, and everywhere a great cry arose for school spirit, better athletic teams, somehow drowning the voice for better educational quality. Drugs hit the campus for the first time, along with a number of "busts" by narcotics agents. Blacks struggled for recognition. The paper did a fine job of presenting their views on subjects and a few hastily made "underground" articles were printed in response.

The Student Government Association still did not reach its full potential, mainly due to student apathy. A few ambitious people led and controlled the masses of students, masses born to be followers. Sad as it is, the condition can only become worse with the increase in student population.

As the year ends, it is an appropriate time for attitudes and philosophies to be reassessed. More freedom must be given students by administrators — freedom to decide when to come and go, when to study, and what courses are necessary. The role of Mid-Victorian mothers by the administration toward women students must end, and the responsibility placed on the students if they are to mature and reach their full potential. But do the students actually want to accept this responsibility?

The feeling left now is one of a quiet calm sea, about to be ravaged once again by the demonic winds of criticism, jubilation, depression, appreciation, apathy, and most of all the need to accomplish something just to remain human.

But whatever our experiences were, good or bad, we can say it has been rewarding, for we're that much better persons to face tomorrow.
